Dear Colleague,

The 51st annual meeting of the Husserl Circle held under the auspices of the Catholic University of America this past spring was an immense success. Special thanks are in order to the Convenor, Michele Averchi and his excellent organizing team, who did a superb job of assembling a first-rate program and attending to every need of the many members and friends of the Circle in attendance. The level of presentation and discussion was once again very high.

The next meeting of the Husserl Circle, convened Daniele De Santis, will take place at the Department of Philosophy and Religious Studies at Charles University, Prague, June 13-16, 2023. A letter with preliminary information from the Convenor is attached.

Future meetings of the Husserl Circle include the 2024 meeting at Creighton University, in Omaha Nebraska, convened by Jacob Rump and Ann Ozar.

Please remember that information regarding this year's meeting will be posted regularly on the Circle's webpage (<http://www.husserlcircle.org/>).

The next mailing will be in January, with the annual call for dues and update from the Convenor.

Best regards,

Burt Hopkins, Ph.D.

Permanent Secretary
